

Vanuatu Citizenship Fees: DSP & CIIP

Obtaining citizenship of Vanuatu is a simplified process that provides applicants with a second passport in exchange for financial contributions. Below are the current investment requirements for the Development Support Program (DSP) and the Capital Investment Immigration Program (CIIP).

DSP Program: Government Contribution

The Development Support Program (DSP) involves a fixed donation to the Government of Vanuatu.

- Single Applicant: $130,000
- Married Couple: $150,000
- Family with 1 Child (under 18): $165,000
- Family with 2 Children (under 18): $180,000
- Additional Dependents: $15,000 each

Fees Include:

- Comprehensive due diligence checks
- Official government citizenship processing fees
- Issuance of citizenship certificates

- Biometric passports delivered via express courier
- Formal Oath of Allegiance to Vanuatu

CIIP Program: Economic Investment

The Capital Investment Immigration Program (CIIP) offers citizenship through an investment package combining government fees with a contribution to the Vanuatu Coffee Impact Fund.

- Single Applicant: $155,000
- Married Couple: $155,000
- Family with 1 Child (under 18): $155,000
- Family with 2 Children (under 18): $155,000
- Additional Dependents: $25,000 each

If you want a fast-track process, DSP is the recommended option. For those interested in investment-backed citizenship with long-term advantages, CIIP provides a structured approach.
